Amvis, Inc.

CEO Keiichi Shibahara Awarded the Medal with Dark Blue Ribbon

Amvis, Inc. (Chuo-ku, Tokyo; Representative Director and CEO: Keiichi Shibahara) is pleased to announce that its CEO, Keiichi Shibahara, has been awarded the Medal with Dark Blue Ribbon, with the conferment ceremony taking place on August 20, 2025.

The Medal with Dark Blue Ribbon is one of Japan's national honors, awarded to individuals who make donations from their private funds for the public good. Shibahara's donation was inspired by his own experience of taking a one-year leave of absence during his student days to study abroad in the United States—a life-changing experience that shaped his outlook on life. Motivated by a desire for students to gain similarly transformative experiences overseas, he made a donation to his alma mater, Nagoya University. In April 2024, Nagoya University established the “Keiichi Shibahara Fund” based on this contribution.

The fund supports programs that provide medical students with opportunities to study abroad, fostering physicians, medical researchers, and entrepreneurs who can contribute to solving global challenges in medicine and healthcare.

At the conferment ceremony, the Medal with Dark Blue Ribbon was formally presented to Shibahara by Dr. Seiichi Matsuo, President of the Tokai National Higher Education and Research System.
