Implementation of Measures to Protect Minority Shareholders in Transactions etc. with Controlling Shareholders

In principle, it is the Company’s policy not to engage in transactions, etc. with controlling shareholders. However, when the Company does engage in transactions, etc. with controlling shareholders, the Board of Directors will decide whether or not to engage in the transaction after thoroughly examining the reasons for the transaction, the necessity of the transaction, and the appropriateness of the transaction conditions, etc., in accordance with laws and regulations and internal rules. In executing transactions, the Company will assume that the terms and conditions will be the same as those for ordinary transactions with third parties not related to it, and it will implement appropriate measures to ensure that the rights of minority shareholders are not harmed.

In addition, in order to ensure the fairness and rationality of transactions with the controlling shareholder and to protect the interests of minority shareholders, the Company has established a special committee to deliberate on such transactions as necessary. The special committee consists of two outside directors and three outside Audit & Supervisory Board members, and the chairman is elected by the members of the committee.
